CLEAN ENERGY EMPLOYEE BENEFIT

Do you want to enhance your brand, create a happier workforce, promote health and wellness, and benefit the environment?

Of course you do! Who doesn't?

We all know how detrimental climate change is to the natural world, but did you know it has a huge impact on our mental and physical health.

Through Viridi's clean energy wellness program, you can provide renewable energy for your employees' homes and help to create a healthier happier workforce.

How does Viridi provide renewable energy to my employees' homes?

Great question! Viridi purchases Renewable Energy Certificates (RECs) on your behalf and allocates them to your employees so they can "go green". A REC represents energy produced by a renewable resource like wind, solar, or hydro. When 1,000 kWh of power is generated by a renewable resource, 1 REC is created, and that REC represents and tracks the renewable energy once it enters the grid. Coincidentally, the average household in the U.S. uses a little under 1,000 kWh of electricity per month. Therefore... By providing 1 REC per month to each of your employees, you are effectively ensuring those households are using renewable energy!
